Building your SuiteWorld game plan

- ◆ Before SuiteWorld, define success in one line. Example: Validate multi-entity revenue approach or Find a WMS partner shortlist.
- ◆ The agenda builder is now live! Schedule sessions early because they fill up quickly. Access agenda builder HERE.
- ◆ Evaluate potential sessions on the type of speaker. Look for someone with deep experience who understands your issues.
- ◆ Plan one must-attend + one backup per block. If value isn't clear by minute 7, pivot without guilt.
- ◆ Seat with intent. Sit up front to ask your specific questions to speakers after the sessions end.
- ◆ Block buffers. Add 10 minutes between far-apart rooms; leave one empty block/day for spillover.
- ◆ 3-2-1 capture rule. After each session: 3 bullets (what, how, who); 2 risks; 1 next step.

Expo & networking (getting answers)

Do your research. Find out what sponsors will be at SuiteWorld. Know what questions you want to ask them.

Arrive with the 3Q Method. 1) Our scenario: ___ 2) Constraint: time/budget/system 3) Success metric: what “good” looks like.

Make them show, not tell. “Can you walk me through this click path using a scenario like ours?”

Compare solutions. Visit the NetSuite product/solution booth first and then check out the 3rd party booths to see how the solutions compare.

Swag finds: If you forgot a bag, phone charger, pen, or water bottle, chances are you can find one on the expo floor!

Find a place to take a call. When exiting the expo hall, turn left and there are some quieter areas down the hall. For important calls, it can be best to go back to your hotel room.

Navigating Caesars Forum and Vegas

- ◆ Plot clusters of classes. Chain sessions that are physically close to avoid time sinks.
- ◆ Rendezvous rule. Pick one meet point; regroup there if you get lost in the busy expo hall.
- ◆ Arrive early where it matters. For your top session, be there 5–10 minutes ahead; leave early if you must cross the venue.
- ◆ Use the skywalk to get places faster. The Skywalk is between The Linq and Caesar's Forum.
- ◆ SuiteWorld is a LOT of walking. Try to stay at a hotel closer to Caesar's Forum. Plan ahead — everything looks closer than it is.

After-hours & post-event ROI

Attend the Wednesday party. Grab an Uber if you want to avoid the long bus line. The party is not at Caesar's Forum.

Prioritize networking outside of the events. Most events are loud, so make sure you're networking during the day.

Bring business cards. This will make it easier to connect with those you meet after SuiteWorld.

Schedule dinners ahead of time with partners and solution providers. Connect in person and as a bonus, get some good meals paid for.

Find your favorite celebrity chef's restaurant. Many celebrity chef's have restaurants on the strip.
